LOGLINE

On the night he's decided to end his life, a man is interrupted by a fog that shouldn't exist, a dog that won't leave, and the growing certainty that his dead brother sent both.

THE FILM

Me, The Dog, and The Dark Fog is a short film about involuntary survival — the way something inconvenient and alive can interrupt the most decided moment of a person's life. Will Hargrove has made up his mind. The dog has not been consulted. The script earns its supernatural element by grounding it completely in grief that is specific, physical, and true before anything strange arrives.
